Volunteers & Continuing Support Needed!

- KIPCOR works in part because of generous assistance from volunteers, many of whom have now retired from their volunteering days (thanks to every one of you!). So we are calling all volunteers! The gift of your time or a referral to others who might help is most welcome!

- FOOD: KIPCOR is known for the quality of food provided during our trainings & events. Do you enjoy cooking and baking? Volunteer to help and we’ll contact you to see if it would be convenient for you to provide baked goods, or perhaps a full meal (cooking duties can be shared with another volunteer).

- MAILINGS: We have a large mailing list and our mass mailings (newsletters, for instance) need many hands to help with folding, sealing, and labeling. Volunteer and we will add your name to the contact list so you will know when we need help.

- ROLE-PLAYERS: KIPCOR trains student mediators throughout the year, and part of that training can include rigorous role-play practice...which requires help from volunteer thespians. Do you long for the stage every now and then? Volunteer and play the part of a parent fighting for more parenting time, a landlord or tenant, a consumer or business owner, or an unhappy neighbor.

- FINANCIAL SUPPORT: We are associated with Bethel College, but almost entirely self-funded. Since money does NOT grow on trees, we need to find it somewhere else. Without the generous support of friends and corporate/foundation sponsors, our work simply cannot continue.

If you can help us in our mission of peacemaking, please contact our Office Manager, Doug Lengel, at: 316-284-5217 or dlengel@bethelks.edu. He will be happy to explain the volunteer process to you.

Return of the Delaware to NE Kansas

The introduction to the Haskell Indian Nations University’s Student “Code of Conduct” begins:

Humankind has not woven the web of life. We are but one thread within it. Whatever we do to the web, we do to ourselves. All things are bound together. All things connect.

~ Chief Seattle, 1854

This concept of being bound together with others and all things was evident in the work KIPCOR’s Great Plains Consensus Council did with the Delaware Tribe of Indians and the Douglas County (KS) partners.

Nearly three years ago, the Consensus Council was asked by representatives of the Delaware, Douglas County, USDA, and others to design and facilitate meetings pertaining to the use of 90 acres of land recently purchased by the Delaware just north of Lawrence, KS –land which had been once owned by the Delaware before they were forced to leave northeast Kansas in the late 1860s.

Despite some concern from locals that the Delaware were only interested in gaming, the tribe made it clear from the beginning that their interest was in establishing a Kansas tribal location that, in cooperation with local governing and educational entities, could re-establish a presence in Northeast Kansas.

A look at the history of the Delaware diaspora demonstrates why this was of interest to the tribe. The Delaware Tribe of Indians is the 25th largest recognized tribe in the United States. Yet after being forced from the eastern US (Delaware and New Jersey, among other areas), they were removed to western Pennsylvania, then Ohio, then Indiana and Missouri.

Happy Anniversary to US! The Celebration Continues

A celebration 30 years in the making is your opportunity to see and hear two special guests.

To mark its 30th Anniversary, KIPCOR has been planning a series of events as a way to say ‘Thank You’ to its many friends and supporters. First up is an appearance by Leonard Pitts, Jr., longtime newspaper columnist and author. Pitts will be on the Bethel College campus (specific venue to be determined) Tuesday, September 12, 2017 to deliver an evening lecture and sign copies of his most recent books.

Pitts has been plying his craft as a writer for more than 35 years and twice each week, millions of readers still turn to his Miami-based, syndicated column for his insightful take on current affairs. Among the many awards Pitts has received are the 2004 Pulitzer Prize for commentary and the National Association of Black Journalists’ Award of Excellence (three times). Pitts is also the author of several books and will be signing copies of Freeman and Grant Park following his September 12 lecture.

KIPCOR loses long-time friend and supporter

Dan Miller, Senior Associate – Dan Wassink

Volunteers are the lifeblood of KIPCOR. Without willing and talented volunteers to coach trainees, cook homemade meals and assist with a myriad of other tasks, the work of our Institute would suffer. On April 23, 2017, KIPCOR lost one of those essential volunteers when Dan Miller passed away unexpectedly just five days shy of his 64th birthday. KIPCOR relied on Dan for many years as a coach for students engaged in role plays as they learned the craft of mediation. Dan was a Kansas Supreme Court approved mediator himself, and also served as volunteer coordinator and principal mediator for the Harvey County Small Claims Mediation project, a program sponsored by KIPCOR’s Community Mediation Center. He earned a Certificate of Conflict Resolution from KIPCOR, as well as an M.B.A. from Friends University in Wichita.

When he wasn’t busy volunteering at KIPCOR, Dan followed his passion for flying as Director of Aviation at Hesston College starting in 1999. He served Hesston College in various roles for 26 years. Dan is survived by his wife, Jaynette; as well as his father, sister, two sons, two daughters, and several grandchildren.

At his memorial service, Dan’s family showed a moving video tribute that depicted his love for family and aviation. Dan’s other love for encouraging people to use their talents to resolve conflict in a peaceful manner was frequently on display at KIPCOR. His friendship and support will be missed.

Donating to KIPCOR online is REALLY easy, and SECURE.

Fill out your credit card information, and click on “Submit Form.” That’s all there is to it!

STEP 6: (Optional) If it’s not too much trouble, let Doug (dlengel@bethelks.edu or 316-284-5217) or Gary (gflory@bethelks.edu) in the KIPCOR office know that you’ve made an online donation so we can watch for the receipt from the development office, and give you a proper THANK YOU!!

2017-2018 Film Series

Lights, camera, action: New wrinkles in store for KIPCOR’s 2017-18 film series

The dates are set and your theater seat will be waiting for you as KIPCOR continues its long-running film series in 2017-18. So grab a pen and mark these Sunday dates and times on your calendar now:

- November 12, 2017 at 2:00 p.m.
- January 14, 2018 at 3:00 p.m.
- March 4, 2018 at 3:00 p.m.

Those are the dates for KIPCOR’s upcoming films, to be shown as always in Krehbiel Auditorium inside the Luyken Fine Arts Center on the Bethel College campus. You may notice we’ve altered the normal schedule a bit — this was done so you can attend KIPCOR’s 30th Anniversary celebration events in September 2017 and April 2018 (see article, “The Celebration Continues”). And PLEASE NOTE the earlier-than-normal starting time on November 12. This change was made so you can leave the auditorium and head across campus to the Chapel in plenty of time for an organ recital later in the afternoon.

In retrospect, KIPCOR’s 2016-17 films highlighted the plight of Syrian refugees, the militarization of local police forces, and offered a modern twist on the Doctrine of Discovery. As usual, there were lively post-film discussions thanks to local experts (and a Syrian refugee and her son from Wichita) who volunteered their time to provide their perspectives and answer audience questions.

We are still reviewing a long list of films and possible topics for 2017-18. So if you have ideas, please share them by calling Dan at (316) 284-5829, or emailing him at dwassink@bethelks.edu. He will be happy to consider your input as he sets the movie line-up. and finally to Indian Territory in what is now Kansas in the Leavenworth and Douglas County areas. When they were forced from Kansas to Oklahoma, there was no land available designated specifically as Delaware tribal land, so the tribe purchased land from the Cherokee Nation through negotiations with the federal government. While current relationships between the Delaware and Cherokee seem to be working, that has not always been the case. So there has been some impetus for the Delaware to return to Kansas.

The Consensus Council’s task was to facilitate introductory planning conversations among the Delaware and a group of potential Douglas County partners – which included the Douglas County Commission, Lawrence City Commission, the University of Kansas, Haskell Indian Nations University, Haskell Indian Nations University, Kansas State University, Lawrence public schools, Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, and others. Initial meetings were designed to build enough trust among participants that planning ideas could be shared and developed. Douglas County Commission chair Nancy Thellman described the early process as follows:

"The early conversations between the Delaware Tribe and Douglas County partners were pretty tenuous. We didn't know each other, we didn't understand each other's motivations, and we didn't have an organized way to come to any understanding. That's where the Consensus Council came in, providing a framework for a safe, honest, and accountable conversation."

After multiple meetings and an increased sense of cooperation among all the parties, the Delaware and other participants entered into a formal cooperative agreement which incorporated a "Vision Outline" that would assist the Delaware in developing a Multi-purpose cultural/education center, and an Agricultural component.

An architectural design firm out of Kansas City was then retained to help design more specific plans and assist in writing grant proposals. The design is based on the initial work with the Consensus Council, and is currently described as the Delaware Tribe Agricultural Heritage Planning Project. It is described in the graphic to the right:

The Vision: A sustainable agricultural education center that honors people and the land.

While the project is still ongoing, the foundation for the collaborative work was one of the more satisfying Consensus Council projects. Thellman emphasized how early facilitation set the tone for good relationships and ongoing collaboration among the parties – something the Consensus Council strives for in all of its work.

"As a result of navigating what might have been a conversation set with many land mines, we actually got on a positive path pretty quickly, thanks to facilitation. We were able to put aside early concerns and set our sights on a great collaborative project that honors the land and will give the tribe a decent return on their substantial investment. I don't know for sure, but I think it's pretty rare to have such positive interaction and mutual good will between a tribe and local government. In this case, that's exactly where we landed. We're still in conversation, now awaiting a final site plan and business plan for the tribe's future use on their 90 acres. The neighboring landowners are excited about the agricultural project; the larger community has given its thumbs up in public meetings and most important, the leadership of the Delaware Tribe of Indians know they have genuine friends in Kansas."
The Search Is On to Find a New Director for KIPCOR

As many of you know, Gary Flory, Director of KIPCOR for 13 years, has announced his retirement effective June 29, 2017.

Dr. Robert Milliman, Bethel College’s Vice President for Academic Affairs, has formed a search committee to find a new Director. The search is proceeding slowly, as the search committee looks for candidates who bring as many of the strengths Gary brought to the job as possible.

Thanks to those of you who have so generously contributed to KIPCOR in response to our April fundraising appeal. With your help, and those of the other supporters, we have already raised almost $10,000.00! Thank you!!

If you would like to make an electronic donation, see page 7 for detailed instructions.

Jacob Miller Wins KIPCOR’s C. Henry Smith Peace Oration Contest - Again

KIPCOR again sponsored the Bethel presentation of the Mennonite Central Committee’s C Henry Smith Peace Oration contest. Jacob Miller, senior from Westmoreland, Kansas, placed first with ‘Mennonites’ Protest of the U.S. National Anthem Lacks Inclusivity of the Black Community: A Call to ‘Lift Every Voice and Sing.”

Miller graduated from Bethel May 21 with a double major in communication arts and English with a minor in business. This was Miller’s third straight year in the top 2 of Bethel’s contest. As a sophomore, he placed first and went on to finish third in the binational competition first-place winners from all participating Mennonite colleges in the United States and Canada. Last year, as a junior, he was second in Bethel’s contest.

Miller summarized his speech by saying, “While the traditional Mennonite emphasis on peace and social justice is admirable, most Mennonites are in a position of privilege as part of the dominant, oppressive white culture.” “Mennonite-affiliated institutions are especially guilty when they play the U.S. national anthem, ‘The Star-Spangled Banner’ (as does Bethel), or even ‘America, The Beautiful’ in its place, because these anthems do not fully entail the black community’s history of oppression.” “‘Lift Every Voice and Sing’ is a song written by black American,鲜man Alexander, and its presentation of the Mennonite Central Committee headquarters in Akron, Pennsylvania, to be judged against the winners from the other Mennonite and Brethren in Christ colleges and universities in the United States and Canada. Results of the 2017 Bi-National contest will be announced in the Fall of 2017.

KIPCOR Designated as Recipient of Award

America’s Farmers Grow Communities program conducts a drawing each year among farmers in approximately 1,300 counties nationwide. The winner of this year’s drawing for Harvey County, Kansas was Alma Unrau of Newton. Alma designated KIPCOR as the recipient of the $2,500 award.

Neighborhood Signs available at KIPCOR

What does it mean to be a good neighbor? Several months ago, KIPCOR made some neighborly signs available to the Newton, Wichita, and surrounding areas. The signs read: “No matter where you’re from, we’re glad you’re our neighbor” in Spanish, English, and Arabic.

The increase in relational isolation – from increased “social” technologies, indoor living, heightened individualism, etc. – has been a frequent topic for commentary. We’re increasingly concerned that our values for independence and individualism have led to less contact with diverse viewpoints and backgrounds. We form our “filter bubbles” through technology’s algorithms feeding us material that we’re known to like and agree with.

When I lived in Indiana, I recognized that I had inadvertently created my own “filter bubbles” in my relationships. The physical manifestation of my work and personal interests led me to recognize a lack of diversity among people I associated with. I began making conscious choices to try to diversify my world – I hung out at the public library more, and moved to a more economically and racially diverse neighborhood, both of which gave me the opportunity for physical proximity with people I wasn’t naturally meeting in my other circles.
